

Computers, digitized libraries and WiFi routers for schools and sports-cultural center of Meghri city

We continued our projects providing schools and rural libraries with computers and digitized libraries. This time it was Meghri city situated in the south of Armenia on the border with Iran. There is a great demand for computers in the city schools and cultural centers.

The funding for this project was donated by Mkrtyumyan Vladimir (Aram) (Pic. 2), a grandson of Mkrtyumyan Boris (Pic. 1), one of the heroes of the WWII, born in Meghri 1908. Boris Mkrtyumyan served in WWII, was wounded but happily survived and lived in Yerevan city until 1998. To commemorate his grandfather, Vladimir donated money to the Internet Society of Armenia asking to provide computers to the Meghri city schools.

In addition to providing computers, we are also setting up Wi-Fi routers to create a Wi-Fi media environment within the libraries.

Computers and WiFi routers were installed in the following schools and libraries:

Meghri City School No 1: 2 computers for Internet access, a computer with digitized library, WiFi router

School No 1

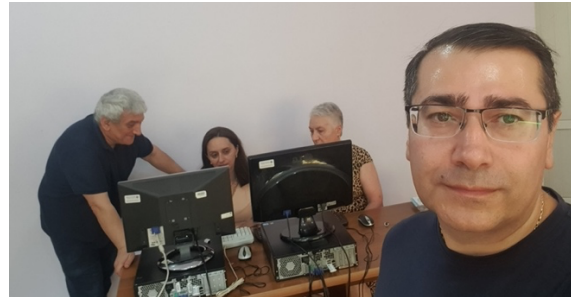

Meghri City School No 2: 2 computers for Internet access, a computer with digitized library, WiFi router
